

Towards Vale Farm, Fontmell Down from Oona Campbell's exhibition, 'Nine Hedgerows', at Panter & Hall, 27, Bury Street, London SW1 (until August 17, 020-7399 9999; www.panterandhall.com). The artist, who lives in north Dorset and spends much time exploring the pathways of Fontmell Down and Cranborne Chase, writes: 'I find them [hedgerows] always alive: in spring winds, they dance and gesture wildly as you travel by, saying "be quick, be quick, the weather is about to turn against you", and in the summer breezes, they sway and dance delightfully as if to say "no need to hurry now".'
